GREAT PACIFIC SLOPE.

GOV BRADY
SCOOPS COAL.

Idaho Executive Commanders
Engine, But Has to Make Steam Himself.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
BONNERS FERRY (Idaho) March 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Gov. Brady arrived here today on a tour of inspection, after a unique experience on the Spokane International Railway. A freight train was wrecked ahead of the passenger train, which delayed traffic for ten hours, and the Governor, who saw an engine standing on the main line ahead of the wreck, climbed on the same and told the engineer he had to be in Bonners Ferry at the time arranged and that the engineer must take him there on the freight engine. The engineer told the Governor that his train was not able to fire the engine, whereupon the Governor pulled off his coat, grabbed the scoop shovel and tossed coal for the trip.

TUG BOAT COMBINE.

Movement for Consolidation on Puget Sound Is Reported to Now Be Underway.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
TACOMA (Wash.) March 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A movement for the consolidation of all Puget Sound tug boat companies, as far reaching as that which united the ocean-going tugs under the management of the Puget Sound Tug Boat Company several years ago, is under consideration. There is even a rumor that the Puget Sound Tug Boat Company may be back of the plan, but in any case, competition would be permanently stifled by the organization. Nine tug boat companies representing fifty Sound tugs, if the deal is completed, will be brought into the combine. When seen today, Capt. Olsen of the Tacoma Tugboat Company operating the tugs Echo, Elf, Olympian and Bear, said he had been approached yesterday by a number of Seattle tug boat men but that he did not believe he would go into the combination. "According to their plan," said Olsen, "all the tugs will be united under one head at Seattle. There will be a local manager and a branch office in each port and all orders will come through Seattle."

ONE GETS IMMUNITY BATH.

Lytle, Director of Worked Bank Freed from Prosecution in Exchange for Valuable Testimony.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
PORTLAND (Or.) March 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] E. E. Lytle, railroad builder, and one of the indicted directors of the defunct Oregon Trust and Savings Bank, was given the immunity bath this afternoon before the State Circuit Court, that he might be used as a witness against the two Moores and the other directors. Deputy District Attorney Fitzgerald made the motion on behalf of the prosecution and the court acquiesced in dismissing the pending charges against Mr. Lytle on the ground of insufficient evidence, thus qualifying him as a witness against Walter H. Moore and also the other officers of the bank to be put on trial later.

Following this action, Lytle took the stand and gave damaging evidence against Moore, who, with Morris, the bank cashier, he declared, had handled as private enterprises the Golden Eagle Loan, the Board of Trade deal and the Pacific and Eastern purchases, which were principal factors in causing the failure.

TORPEDO BOAT DISABLED.

Sends Wireless for Assistance and Finally Limpes into Mare Island
Navy Yard Unaided.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
VALLEJO, March 25.—After breaking down at sea, about twenty miles off the Golden Gate, and sending a wireless message for assistance, the torpedo boat Hopkins limped into Mare Island navy yard this evening under her own steam, but with only one boiler working. Coming up the coast the Hopkins is reported to have experienced much trouble with her boilers and leaky tubes.

ANTI-TOXIN FATAL.

PULMONARY EMBOLISM.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
NORTH YAKIMA (Wash.) March 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Ten minutes after being given a dose of anti-toxin, David N. Culver, City Councilman from the Second Ward, was dead. His 3-year-old son had developed symptoms of diphtheria, and the physician administered the drug to the rest of the family as a precautionary measure. Mr. Culver was much excited over the illness of the boy, and the autopsy revealed death to have been due to pulmonary embolism. He was 28 years old. He was elected Councilman last December, and had shown himself a strong man in the position.

WHIPS BRITISH BOUNCER.

Fast Flat Fight Results When Yosemite Hotel Manager Orders Ejection of Guest.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
YOSEMITE, March 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Reports from El Portal tell of a flat fight to the finish at Hotel El Portal yesterday, not scheduled on the sporting calendars.

It seems the trouble arose when Charles Walker, of Mariposa, dropped around to the dining-room for breakfast. Owing to the personal animosity existing between Walker and C. A. Babb, manager of the hotel, the night clerk, a large and imposing Englishman, came in and ordered the "bloomer" intruder out. Walker refused to go until he had eaten the meal for which he expected to pay. He and the clerk argued the question.

The clerk finally succeeded in getting him to the door. Very shortly began, resulting in the Englishman's getting knocked out by a well-delivered blow to the jaw. The winner, carrying minor bruises about the eye and a torn coat, went back and finished his breakfast.

Walker claims animosity as the cause of the attack, and says he plans to sue Babb for damages for refusing to allow him to peacefully partake of and pay for a meal at a public hotel.

SUES REDDING ELKS.

Los Angeles Hotel-keeper Sues to Recover Full Price for Rooms Rented During Reunion.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
REDDING, March 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The officers of the Redding Lodge of Elks have been served with papers in a suit for $275 by a Los Angeles hotel-keeper. Shortly before the Supreme Lodge of Elks was to meet in Los Angeles in July last, the Redding Elks contracted to take fifty rooms in a first-class hotel. Before the Supreme Lodge met, the hotel-keeper had a change of heart, and he informed the Redding Elks that if they gave up their claim on the rooms he would provide them good quarters in the annex. The Redding Elks accepted his proposal, reducing the number of rooms they would take to twenty-five.

When the Redding Elks reached Los Angeles, they assert they found the rooms in the annex very inferior. Most of the members refused to take them; in fact, only three rooms were occupied at all.

But the Los Angeles hotel man wants the whole charge, $275. Although a check for $125—more than enough to pay for the rooms—was regularly sent to him, he refused to accept it and sent it back. And now he brings the suit.

HASTY YOUTH TRIUMPHS.

Boy and Girl, Whose Parents Oppose, Slip Away and Get Married.

Makes Mother Ill.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
BERKELEY, March 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Unwilling to await the time when they would reach their majority, and knowing that their parents were strongly opposed to their marriage at the present time, Miss Helen McCormick, the 17-year-old daughter of H. R. McCormick, No. 2012 Benevise avenue, and George Warfield, 18 years of age, and the youngest son of Mrs. Charles A. Warfield, of No. 2007 Webster street, quietly slipped away to San Rafael and were united in marriage.

As a result of a telegram, which announced the union of the young couple to the mother of the bride, Mrs. McCormick, who has for several years been an invalid, lies critically ill at her home.

WOMAN AND GUN.

THREE MEN ARE HUNG.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)
OAKLAND, March 25.—Reinforced by a double-barreled shotgun, Mrs. Mary Covacks today put to rout C. J. Delaney, a lawyer of Hayward, Richard Allen and a man who refused to give the authorities any information on the notes until an indecent exposure of small children away. When the woman returned she seized the weapon and chased the men off the premises, notwithstanding the fact that they were well armed. Later Mrs. Covacks had the three men arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace and malicious mischief. She intends to make an effort to charge them with attempted kidnapping.

The trouble arose over the purchase of the Covacks' home from a man named Sherwood. The woman thinks the men planned to kidnap the children and hold them for a collection of certain disputed payments.

JUDGMENT ON NOTES.

ORAL AGREEMENT INADEQUATE.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.)
SAN JOSE, March 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Judgment was given today by Judge Richards to the Commercial & Savings Bank of San Jose against James W. Rea and Mrs. Emma Louise for $2,000 as the result of an action heard in this department of the Superior Court last December on two promissory notes executed to the bank. At the time of the trial Rea pleaded a verbal agreement with L. Louie, who was then president of the bank, to the effect that action would not be brought on the notes until an indecent exposure of small children away. When the woman returned she seized the weapon and chased the men off the premises, notwithstanding the fact that they were well armed. Later Mrs. Covacks had the three men arrested on a charge of disturbing the peace and malicious mischief. She intends to make an effort to charge them with attempted kidnapping.

SLOPE BRIEFS.

Opium Goes to Sewer.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—Opium valued at $10,000, the accumulation of a year's seizures on Pacific Island, was destroyed today in pursuance with orders from Washington. After being boiled, the drug was poured into a sewer.

Incendiary Fire.

REQUEST FOR MR. BALLINGER.

Attorney for Glavis Would Have Him Testify.

Question of His Appearing Under Consideration.

Morgan-Guggenheim Syndicate Director Questioned.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, March 25.—The Ballinger-Pinchot inquiry was resumed today after an adjournment of practicality for two weeks. As soon as the committee met this morning, Attorney Brandeis, representing Louis St. Glavis and others, sprung a surprise by requesting Secretary Ballinger be called as one of his witnesses. Brandeis said at first he wished to identify, by Ballinger, two letters he desired to introduce in evidence at this time.

Questioned further by members of the committee as to his intent, he admitted he desired to conduct a general examination of the accused Cabinet official.

Counsel for Ballinger objected to this and called forth from Brandeis the remark that from his letters he had always supposed Ballinger to be ready to appear whenever and as often as any one connected with the inquiry desired. Brandeis then asked the committee to think Ballinger, as the person most interested in the inquiry, should have opportunity to make his statement, first in his own way, and not subject himself to a cross-examination before being examined in chief. The matter was passed over, to be decided later in executive session.

BIRCH ON STAND.

The witness stand was occupied during the entire day by Stephen Birch, managing director of the Morgan-Guggenheim syndicate in Alaska. It was brought out by the committee that Birch would be largely perfunctory in character and would follow the lines of his recent statement made before the Senate Committee on Territories.

Members of the committee, however, became deeply interested in the operations of the Alaska syndicate and they asked Birch questions from every possible angle. Much of the questioning was intended to show that the Guggenheims practically controlled Alaska. Birch stoutly denied this.

Well, he was asked by Representative Graham, the Guggenheims got control of the coal lands in Alaska, what would they do with them? Birch said he thought this was a fair question to ask him. He admitted that the Guggenheim interests were large, that they had invested some $15,000,000 already and had contracted for the expenditure of other millions. There had been no return from these investments yet. But the syndicate "had hopes."

As to the Cunningham claims, Birch produced the opinion that a committee of the claimants had given to Daniel Guggenheim, July 28, 1917, a declaration of their opinion that the claimants had no right to the land.

Estimate of Values. As to his estimate that coal in Alaska was worth 15 cents a ton and therefore the Cunningham claims represented an actual value of $25,000,000, Birch declared it was just as sensible as any the lobbyist in Alaska was of. He said, however, that the value of the coal was not the value of the land, but that the transportation facilities had to be provided.

It was evident today that members of the committee are growing irritable and that this irritability extends to counsel. There were frequent clashes and both Brandeis and Vertrees apologized at the close of the session for impatient remarks.

HEYBURN ROARS AT WARREN.

Idaho Senator Roasts Colleague Calling Speech "Drive"—Talks Against Irrigation Bill.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.)

WASHINGTON, March 25.—Senators Warren and Heyburn clashed in the Senate today over the effort on the part of the former to obtain the passage of a bill authorizing the surplus waters held under irrigation reclamation projects. The Idaho Senator objected to the enactment of such a law as contrary to the Constitution and laws of his state.

Mr. Heyburn took the floor with the avowed purpose of talking on the bill until some other measure would naturally come up under the rules of the Senate. After he had spoken for an hour or more, Mr. Warren, who sat near him, made a remark in sotto voce that the Idaho Senator's speech was mere drivel.

The remark aroused Mr. Heyburn's ire. "The time is coming," he shouted, "when this sort of thing must cease. The assumption that because one man has been longer than another he can direct the course of the other is intolerable."

"Another recruit to the ranks of the insurgents," remarked some Senator on the Democratic side, but Mr. Heyburn added that he did not intend to stop. He saw in the bill an effort to place all irrigation projects under government control.

Senator Brown favored the bill.

PIERCE FOREST FIRES.

Men Fight Flames on Rockefeller's Estate and Also on the Famous Carmel Acres.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) TARRYTOWN (N. Y.) March 25.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) Fire in the woods on the immense estate of John D. Rockefeller gained such headway this afternoon that the fire brigade had to be rushed to the scene and they were followed by J. D. Rockefeller, Jr., and his wife, who drove there in a carriage and directed the firemen at their work. About twenty-five men were engaged in the fight and it took several hours of hard fighting before Mr. Rockefeller decided that the blaze was out and allowed the men to return home.

There were three fires on the estate today, and tonight all over Pocomoke Hills there is a heavy cloud of smoke. The woods north of the estate are now burning and also south of it near the Rockefeller house. The railroad tracks prevented the blaze from jumping over to the main part of the estate. The fire is still burning and men will be kept on guard tonight to watch the flames and see that they do not reach the mansion by houses in the estate.

There is a heavy wind blowing tonight. Fire also broke out on the estate of Gen. Howard Carroll and was being fought by Tarrytown firemen. The fire is a fierce one and the fire is driving in ahead. Gen. Carroll owns one of the handsomest estates on the Hudson. The woods are dry and the flames spread quickly and are almost impossible to control.

SIXTH DISTRICT LEADS.

Few Corporations in Los Angeles Territory Fail to Meet Demand of New Excise Law.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) From present indications the Sixth International Revenue District, with headquarters at Los Angeles, will lead the country in high percentage of returns made by corporations under the new excise law. Out of about 600 corporations registered at the office of the Secretary of State at Sacramento, as doing business in the Sixth District today, 500 have returned returns in before March 1, according to collector Claude L. Parker of Los Angeles, who is in charge of the collection.

As against this satisfactory showing, Collector August E. Muenster of the San Francisco district expects to find more than 100 delinquent corporations within his jurisdiction, although he will have no definite figure until early next week. With brief penalties ranging from $100 to $50,000 for those who have failed to heed the provision of the law, Muenster anticipates stormy scenes when the day of settlement arrives.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) SAN JOSE, March 25.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The guardianship of the estate of Adolph Greening, one of San Jose's pioneer merchants and politician, was settled today by Judge Gooby, after he had had the petition of Mrs. W. Koerber, a daughter of Mr. Greening, under advisement since last Tuesday. A very insistent demand was made in the course of the hearing by Mrs. Koerber for her own appointment, a demand which was just as strenuously opposed by Reuben, a brother of the petitioner. The appointment fell to Attorney D. M. Burnett, a disinterested party.

The son, Reuben, some time ago was given a 50 percent interest in the large pie business of his father, the other half going to a son now deceased. Reuben has been acting as business agent for his father for some of the rather extensive holdings of the old gentleman has in San Jose, and was very much opposed to having his father named as guardian, giving as his reason for this that he possessed no experience in business matters.

PHES PLAYING THE GAME ON COMMITTEE BLACKBOARD.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS REPORT.)

STANFORD, March 25.—The forward pass is an element of modern football so important and so controversial that the Intercollegiate Football Committee adjourned tonight for a session of active discussion.

The committee adjourned tonight for a session of active discussion. A settlement of our differences is at hand," said E. J. Hall of the fact, we are nearer a settlement now than we have been heretofore, but there is no assurance yet.

The committee will meet again at 8:30 o'clock tomorrow morning, but if no settlement of differences seems possible then, adjournment will be taken until later in the spring.

Most of the day was spent in an effort to learn on what common ground the members could meet. To the matter of general policy they are in substantial accord, but on details of tactics these were found to be a wide difference of opinion.

There was an impression that both the forward pass and the on-side kick will be retained.

STANFORD GIVES IN TO BERKELEY.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 25.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The U.S.C. relations between Stanford and California will not be severed. By a vote of 413 to 376, the Cardinal student body today voted to accept the ultimatum regarding the five-year rule which California submitted.

Rather than cause a breach in the athletic relations between the universities, Stanford decided to yield to her rival's demands although many of the students are bitter toward the Californians on account of what they consider their unsportsmanlike attitude in the matter of the forward pass.

Many prominent students, including Track Captain Scott and Football Captain Mitchell, were strongly in favor of refusing to give in to California and advocated the breaking-off of all athletic relations.

Harry Horton, "A," introduced a motion, "We reject unconditionally the ultimatum of Berkeley."

The mass voted about evenly on the question, but a majority of the "Coda" lined up with the men who thought pride ought to be swallowed in the interests of intercollegiate sports, and the motion was lost by forty-three votes.

Stanford, while being forced to abandon its stand for a six-year rule, will insist that the eligibility requirements at California are made as rigid as those at Stanford.

The old intercollegiate agreement will survive the spring sports of this term, and the new agreement, with the five-year rule as demanded by California, probably will be drawn up before the next football season.

The Stanford representatives held out for six years on account of the scholarship probation rules here that are likely to deprive athletes of their privileges of participating in four contests in five years.

The majority of students, however, believe that the five-year rule will reflect the athletes of both universities with the same effect if equal scholarship requirements are made. But the Cardinal students are "not on an account of the way California thrust its ultimatum upon 'em."

By the terms of the proposal which Stanford accepted, the spring events will be governed by the old eligibility rules, except that California will apply its interpretation of the rule when certifying to the eligibility of its athletes to the eligibility of its own athletes while Stanford will allow her more liberal interpretation to persons of her team.

After August, 1910, the now famous five-year rule, originally proposed to the Intercollegiate Agreement Committee by the California members and strenuously upheld by them and the local student body, will go into effect. This rule, simple in its wording and impossible of misinterpretation, provides that athletes shall be divided into fall and spring sports.

An athlete is to be allowed to compete not more than four times in spring sports and four times in fall sports, and five years after matriculation he is to be ineligible to compete under any circumstances whatever.

Stanford's action today is a result of a joint meeting of the Executive Committee of the two student bodies in San Francisco last night, when it was developed that the Stanford representatives in the Intercollegiate Agreement Committee had failed to make a full and accurate statement of the Cardinal executives of the five-year rule or of the beneficial effect it would have on athletics.

Californians, while regretting that it seemed necessary to present the ultimatum to Stanford before the virtues of the five-year rule could be recognized, are delighted that athletic relations are not to be severed and have every confidence that intercollegiate athletics will be purified and greatly bettered by the operation of the new agreement.

STANFORD GIVES IN TO BERKELEY.

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 25.—(Exclusive Dispatch.) The U.S.C. relations between Stanford and California will not be severed. By a vote of 413 to 376, the Cardinal student body today voted to accept the ultimatum regarding the five-year rule which California submitted.

Rather than cause a breach in the athletic relations between the universities, Stanford decided to yield to her rival's demands although many of the students are bitter toward the Californians on account of what they consider their unsportsmanlike attitude in the matter of the forward pass.

Many prominent students, including Track Captain Scott and Football Captain Mitchell, were strongly in favor of refusing to give in to California and advocated the breaking-off of all athletic relations.

Harry Horton, "A," introduced a motion, "We reject unconditionally the ultimatum of Berkeley."

The mass voted about evenly on the question, but a majority of the "Coda" lined up with the men who thought pride ought to be swallowed in the interests of intercollegiate sports, and the motion was lost by forty-three votes.

Stanford, while being forced to abandon its stand for a six-year rule, will insist that the eligibility requirements at California are made as rigid as those at Stanford.

The old intercollegiate agreement will survive the spring sports of this term, and the new agreement, with the five-year rule as demanded by California, probably will be drawn up before the next football season.

The Stanford representatives held out for six years on account of the scholarship probation rules here that are likely to deprive athletes of their privileges of participating in four contests in five years.

The majority of students, however, believe that the five-year rule will reflect the athletes of both universities with the same effect if equal scholarship requirements are made. But the Cardinal students are "not on an account of the way California thrust its ultimatum upon 'em."

By the terms of the proposal which Stanford accepted, the spring events will be governed by the old eligibility rules, except that California will apply its interpretation of the rule when certifying to the eligibility of its athletes to the eligibility of its own athletes while Stanford will allow her more liberal interpretation to persons of her team.

After August, 1910, the now famous five-year rule, originally proposed to the Intercollegiate Agreement Committee by the California members and strenuously upheld by them and the local student body, will go into effect. This rule, simple in its wording and impossible of misinterpretation, provides that athletes shall be divided into fall and spring sports.

An athlete is to be allowed to compete not more than four times in spring sports and four times in fall sports, and five years after matriculation he is to be ineligible to compete under any circumstances whatever.

Stanford's action today is a result of a joint meeting of the Executive Committee of the two student bodies in San Francisco last night, when it was developed that the Stanford representatives in the Intercollegiate Agreement Committee had failed to make a full and accurate statement of the Cardinal executives of the five-year rule or of the beneficial effect it would have on athletics.

Californians, while regretting that it seemed necessary to present the ultimatum to Stanford before the virtues of the five-year rule could be recognized, are delighted that athletic relations are not to be severed and have every confidence that intercollegiate athletics will be purified and greatly bettered by the operation of the new agreement.

Rumor Untrue. A rumor has been circulating around town for several days that Sam Langford and Ketchel were to fight before some club in San Francisco, but Manager Woodman for Langford, said last night that there was no truth in the story. The black is to fight Ketchel, but Ketchel is to close in the East on April 27. Manager McCarey of the local club says he would not stage such a fight because Ketchel has lost his saving power since his bout with Klaus in Pittsburgh this week.

"Too Good to Be True," Is Verdict of Fans—No Confirmation Received from Either Hester or Langford. Tom O'Day Given Consideration as Matchmaker.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] SAN FRANCISCO, March 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] "Too good to be true" is the way the sporting public feels about the news that comes from Wheeling, W. Va., announcing that Sid Hester, through an agent, has signed Stanley Ketchel for a twenty-round fight in San Francisco, and that, as it would once more be his colt that would have to make good any guarantee for a middleweight championship fight, that he surely would be consoling and advised of any steps that might have been taken.

But up to a late hour tonight O'Day had received no wire from Hester concerning the proposed fight, and he further stated he did not know it. Hester's intention to match the pair. The dispatch from Wheeling says that Ketchel and Sam Langford will fight twenty rounds for the title at San Francisco late in the summer. The exact date of the fight is not determined for several weeks. Ketchel, who is recovering from the effects of his ill-starred fight with Klaus at Pittsburgh, last Wednesday night, signed to meet Langford this morning. Ketchel agreed to a $25,000 guarantee and 25 per cent of the moving picture.

According to reports from Langford, the middleweight champion, knows nothing of the proposed match.

KETCHEL IN BAD LIGHT. [BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.] PITTSBURGH, March 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Tales from the Coast that Stanley Ketchel has not been taking the best care of himself while in the West were borne out today by an investigation of his conduct previous to his flaccid with Frank Klaus here on last Wednesday night. Those handling the fight were informed previous to the mill that Ketchel had been drinking heavily here, but they did not dignify the report with investigation, not thinking that he would dare risk so much. There was good evidence that Ketchel had been drinking before he went into the ring with Klaus, and those who had much at stake in the fight have since investigated the reports of bad conduct and found them to be not only true but that conditions had been underestimated.

Commerce Commission Wants to Find Out.

an Citrus Fruit Be Sent East Without Ice?

Interstate Lemon Rate Case
Nears an End.

The Los Angeles hearing of the complaint of the citrus fruit growers probably will be finished Monday, and the final decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission upon the entire subject is expected to be returned before a commission adjourns for vacation June.

These announcements were made in statements made by Commissioner Boutwell from the bench yesterday.

In the hearing the growers asked for the placing in evidence of the cost of pre-cooling cars and the large saved to the railroads when this is done at the shipper's expense. In this point the commission ruled that the cost of the decision definitely was reached there should be no experiment made by the government in regard to a cost of operation and the value of pre-cooling as against straight refrigeration, and also experiments to find out whether or not shipments can be sent rough without additional ice, where cars are pre-cooled and pre-iced.

The railroads scored through the testimony of T. H. Phillips, who is in charge of the traffic of the Earl Fruit company. Phillips was called by the railroads and testified to three main features.

These features raised the ire of Attorney Call for the citrus growers, who open court accused Phillips of being representative of the tail end of the railroads.

His testimony points out that the railroads upon oranges and lemons should be the same; second, that the shippers asked the railroads to do the pre-cooling in the making of cases; third, that at the time the lemon rate was fixed from $1.25 to $1.50 it was with the understanding that this rate would later be reduced to $1.00.

Outside of Phillips' statements the five day was practically given over to the question of pre-cooling and of refrigeration, and before the end of the hearing the growers introduced claims for some 600 cars, which they allege were sent out, pre-cooled and pre-iced, and which should be charged to the railroads between Los Angeles and destination. They charge that these cars have been associated with the pre-cooled and pre-iced cars and that they should be charged the money collected for unrefrigerated service.

The railroads, however, claim that they are pre-cooled and pre-iced cars it is necessary to re-ice during transit in order to save the fruit from decay and that this service was performed in every instance.

CHEAPER SERVICE.

During the testimony Commissioner Boutwell ruled:

"This invention of pre-icing cars as made by the United States government and now by the railroads. The methods now employed are about half as expensive as the old way and it seems to me that you should either perform this service cheaper or allow the shipper to render the service for himself."

"But," objected Attorney Durburn, "a passenger could cook his own meals in his dining car cheaper than we could furnish it to him. Are we compelled to permit this?"

"The railroads now charge $2.50 for refrigerating a car to Chicago and $3 for this service to New York. If this has been the case, the large shippers can better afford to pre-ice and re-cool their fruit than pay the arbitrary charge for what the railroads call re-icing service than they can to pay the regular refrigeration charges between here and the East."

J. S. Leeds, manager of the Santa Fe Refrigerator Dispatch, occupied most of the early part of the session and proved a careful witness. His examination was mostly along the lines of the cost of icing the cars between here and Chicago.

Leeds stated that ice costs the Santa Fe better than $4, while the shippers claim they can get ice in Los Angeles for $2.25. When asked how this was possible, the manager said:

"They are buying the ice from a great plant. They cannot buy this quantity and be sure of getting it."

Commissioner Boutwell has been stated here that a shipper can make his own ice under $2.25.

"WAY TO SAVE."

Leeds smiled, and then said calmly: "We don't know what he is talking about. We have a better system than any in the country. We ice cheaper and the shippers are saving money by it."

It was brought out in testimony that the packers in Chicago either ice their cars east of the Mississippi or they use ice from the Santa Fe at St. Louis.

"Why is this," was asked, "when the charge west of the Mississippi is 125?"

"That is a competitive question and the charge is less than the service rendered."

Leeds proved to be a careful witness and was not led into any traps, so was accused with little malice, except the statement made that the cost of ice for refrigeration service was only 54 per cent. of the expense.

Later on in the afternoon the railroads tried to prove, through the introduction of the testimony of T. H. Phillips, that the cars shipped by the citrus growers had been fully re-iced on their way east and that no cars, except test cars, had been allowed to take their chances without re-icing during shipment.

McGinnis testified that he has charge of the ice plants along the line of the Santa Fe, and that he was instrumental in building the Santa Fe's pre-cooling station at San Bernardino. He testified fully in regard to the methods of handling the icing at that station and the cost of production, tending to show that ice cannot be made for $2.25 per ton in any plant in the West.

McGinnis also testified in regard to a meeting of President Ripley of the Santa Fe with the citrus growers, at which the growers asked for the erection of their own plants for pre-cooling the shipments.

ASKED FOR PLANT.

He also stated that the order for the present plant at San Bernardino was held up at the request of President Ripley until the meeting with the growers with the road officials, after which this plant was erected at the request of the growers, who themselves at that time desired the railroads to build the plant for them. It also was brought out in testimony that it would cost $2,000,000 for the growers throughout the southern end of the State to build their own pre-cooling plants entirely.

McGinnis stated that his experiments at San Bernardino showed that fruit could be cooled about 5 deg. per hour, and that this cooling resulted in a saving of about 25 per cent. of the ice formerly required to refrigerate shipments.

He stated that he believed it would pay the railroad companies to pre-cool fruit without additional charge because of this saving, but that in his opinion the time would never come when it would be possible to overcharge cars pre-cooled and pre-iced straight through the desert to the East without re-icing the way.

He stated that when the shipper sent a car through, that car was re-iced on the way, in spite of the shipping instructions. He stated that it was, in his opinion, necessary to do so. This led Attorney Call to call the statements in question.

Commissioner Boutwell settled the argument once, and for all time, by the statement that the commission would take a hand in the game, and would run test cars through, both with and without re-icing on the way. The contention of the fruit growers that the commission will be one of the largest factors in the case.

PREPARE FOR BIG BATTLE.

Federal Attorneys Confer With Prosecutor Wade Ellis on Important Interstate Commerce Case.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) CINCINNATI, March 25.—Prominent attorneys representing the Federal government are in this city conferring with Wade H. Ellis, former Assistant United States Attorney-General, in preparation for what is regarded as the greatest legal battle of the Interstate Commerce Commission's existence.

The case is set for hearing in the Supreme Court of the United States on Monday, April 4, and involves the power conferred upon the commission by the Hepburn law to fix rates where railroads are found to be overcharging.

This point is vital toward rendering effective the work of the commission, and Mr. Ellis has been especially retained in the case, which involves the commission's order reducing the rate of first-class matter from the Atlantic to St. Joseph, Omaha and Kansas City. The cut ordered was 3 cents per hundred pounds, or 12.5 per cent. But the decision will affect the rates of every railroad in the country so far as they are concerned in the commission's order to reduce them when found to be exorbitant.

SANTA FE IS SUED.

BROOKLYN, N. Y., ALLEGED. (ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.) OKLAHOMA CITY (Okla.), March 25.—Charging the Atchafalaya, Topeka and Santa Fe Railroad with violating the state prohibition law in having stored liquors consigned to local dealers, John M. Hayes, a state enforcement attorney, filed, on behalf of the state, claims aggregating $100,000 against the company.

It is alleged that the company stored the liquor in a house on their right of way for a year. The maximum penalty for violation of the prohibition law is $1000 a day.

LUMBERMEN COMPLAIN.

HEARING IN MICHIGAN. (ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.) CADILLAC (Mich.), March 25.—Walter E. McCormack of Washington, special examiner for the Interstate Commerce Commission, heard the complaint here of the Michigan Lumber Manufacturers' Association, an alleged excessive rate to the Pacific Coast. The Michigan association holds the 16-cent rate should be cut to 7 cents, to conform to the rate charged other lumbermen in the same relative sense. Testimony of witnesses and arguments of counsel will be heard before the commission at Washington.

GUILTY OF TAKING REBATES.

NEW YORK, March 25.—Adrian Gips, general agent of the Holland-American steamship line in the United States, pleaded guilty before Judge Holt in the United States Circuit Court today to indictments charging the receiving of rebates from the Washburn & Kennerly Vermorel road in violation of the Hepburn law. Judge Holt imposed a fine of $2000 in each case.

CATTLE RUSHED TO PASTURES.

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.), March 25.—Railroads operating out of San Antonio have orders for 400 cars between now and April 10 to handle the greatest rush of cattle ever known from this section to Oklahoma pastures. Droving and packing roads in violation of the Hepburn law. Judge Holt imposed a fine of $2000 in each case.

TERRIFIC HAILSTORM.

British Steamship Is Disabled and Almost Wrecked in the Gulf of Mexico.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) GALVESTON (Tex.), March 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The British steamship Oriole, Capt. Gainer, master, in from Amsterdam with her cargo of creosote, had a narrow escape from being wrecked by a terrific hailstorm in the Gulf, about 200 miles off Dry Tortugas, Tuesday afternoon.

Hailstones in the Gulf are very unusual. The Oriole's crew were driven from the deck and the superstructure suffered. The heavy hailstones broke all the glass and almost demolished the cabin on the upper deck. The stack was badly dented and the vessel had to slow down until the phenomena passed.

ITO'S ASSASSIN EXECUTED.

HARBIN (Manchuria), March 25.—Inchuan Angan, the Korean who assassinated Prince Ito, former Japanese resident-general of Korea, in this city on October 26, last, was executed at Port Arthur this morning.

Loma Linda Theosophist Insists on Paying for Baby Beef Eaten Years Ago.

(BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.) DENVER, March 25.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Seven years ago W. M. Darby, now a theosophist of Loma Linda, Cal., while hunting in Western Colorado, got hungry and killed and ate a calf belonging to Frank W. Graham, a wealthy Denver stockman. Graham didn't miss the calf, but Darby's conscience pricked him after he embraced theosophy and he wrote to Graham to name his price and he would pay for the calf. Graham didn't reply and Darby wrote again. Graham said the price was $5 and Darby permitted the money, saying it pinched him to pay it, but he was glad to get the burden off his conscience.

NEGOTIATIONS COME TO HALT.

Joint Conference of Miners a Failure.

Ohio Refuses Every Demand of Unionists.

Pennsylvania and Indiana Are Conciliatory.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) CINCINNATI, March 25.—With a complete disagreement among its members, the Scale Committee of the joint conference of miners and operators of Ohio, Indiana and Western Pennsylvania, will report to the main body tomorrow morning, and the conference is scheduled to come to a close.

Just what action the miners then will take is a question the mining interests are troubled over. A secret conference was held here tonight by the miners' joint Scale Committee, but its result is not announced.

It is known Western Pennsylvania and Indiana operators have offered a 5-cent increase on pick work, and Ohio has refused every demand.

It is at tomorrow's session of the miners' convention, the question will be whether to strike in Ohio alone, or to refuse all offers and call a general strike. The latter is thought probable, as the miners believe if they can secure an increased wage scale in Western Pennsylvania and Indiana, it will be adhered to throughout the country.

Another alternative that had considerable backing would be the dissolution of the miners' convention with instructions to the various districts to sign new agreements, or, failing in this, to begin open warfare.

MORE WAGES ASKED.

DEMAND MORE FORMALITY. (ASSOCIATED PRESS NIGHT REPORT.) DENVER, March 25.—Demands were made on the Colorado and Southern Railroad today by the local branch of the Brotherhood of Railway Trainmen for an increase of 3 cents an hour in the pay of the men and a change in the working conditions, in accordance with the terms of the settlement of the switchmen's strike which occurred on the Colorado and Southern in July.

It is probable that the men will voluntarily increase the road will voluntarily increase the pay of the men under the terms of the Chicago agreement, and the service is possible in passing sentence on those who confess.

A paragraph of the presentments, added at the last moment, declared former Councilman Jacob Soffel refused the tender of $5000, which was then set apart as a defense fund in case any of the members of the clique got within the grasp of the law.

Upon receipt of the presentments, Judge Cohen ordered the District Attorney to immediately withdraw the indictments against the men heretofore named, and the others named in the presentment.

The grand jury was then excused until Monday. The only comment the District Attorney would make on the sensational grand jury investigation was:

"We expect pleas at any moment and we may have to use 'rain checks' because of the rush."

DEEP WATER FOR LESLIE.

Today's findings of the grand jury puts a new phase on the case of Max G. Leslie, who is now at Hot Springs, Leslie was acquitted on the charge of perjury in connection with the Columbia National Bank matter. He had denied to a grand jury he had ever received any money in the deal and conceived a jury, when placed on trial, that on the day he was alleged to have received the money he was in New York.

The present grand jury finds he paid $17,000 to Brand and that the bank paid Leslie $25,000 in June, 1908, but does not specify the date, Leslie, therefore, is in a position where one jury has declared it believes him when he says he did not get the money on June 6, 1908, and another jury declares he did receive it.

It is declared the evidence before the grand jury shows a mistake was made in the first instance, and the date and the transaction will be the basis of a new attack when Leslie is again brought to trial.

DURAND'S GUESS ON CENSUS.

Superintendent Believes Totals Will Show Between Eighty-eight and Ninety-one Millions.

(ASSOCIATED PRESS DAY REPORT.) BOSTON, March 25.—Dr. E. Dana Durand, the national superintendent of the census, says that by June 1 he hoped to report the number of inhabitants in the United States as between $8,000,000 and $1,000,000. The great army of enumerators, consisting of 75,000 men and women, will move on April 15 and will cover the cities in fifteen days and the rural sections in thirty days. It will take four months to cover the manufacturing institutions and three years to study all trades.

Indictments were found against Klein or Watson for any of the crimes to which they have confessed.

The grand jury declares it is convinced Charles Stewart and William Brand can unravel the entire network of criminal work, and can disclose the names of all parties guilty.

It is recommended the court be as lenient as possible in passing sentence on those who confess.

AN EASTER VISION.

BY EDITH MAIDA COOK.

He shall come in princely power most splendid,
By the glory and pomp of Heaven attended.
He shall sit on His throne and command His own,
And the reign of earthly kings be ended.

Then wind and storm and hurricane,
Wild things that sweep across the world,
And tossed and tore and leaped and whirled,
Like starved dogs leashed, shall leap in vain.
No more shall thunderbolts be hurled,
Or lightning pierce the earth again.
Volcanoes blast or earthquakes shock,
That once were wont to rend and rock,
Shall feel His hand, and trembling cease—
Before the Prince of Power and Peace.

The sea that sweeps from shore to shore,
Shall beat itself about no more,
But lie at rest upon the sands,
Subjected to Divine commands.
Beasts of the wood, untamed and wild,
Shall do no hurt to man or child.
But come in meek submissive awe,
To recognize Him—Love and Law.

And birds shall come in flocks and droves,
From crags and rocks and fields and groves;
Shall chant a matin loud and long,
Shall burst their little throats with song—
One grand majestic anthem sing,
Acknowledging Him—God and King.
All toads and worms and creeping things,
Shall lose their venom and their stings,
And from their curse shall be set free,
To creep to him in purity.

From out their revels and haunts of sin,
Men and women shall gather in,
To learn His judgment shall there assemble,
Shall crouch and cower and white and tremble,
Shall crouch and cower and beg and whine,
For the barred light of His smile divine.

Rulers and potentates and kings
Shall feel their glory and power take wings,
And before Him come, awe-struck and dumb,
Piteous wretched cringing things.
The wise shall gather from all the earth,
The potent and proud and valiant of birth,
Shall fall at His feet and pray and entreat,
And know their nothingness—then complete.

And they who have ground their fellows down,
Hoarding each atom and tithe of gold,
Who have trampled and crushed to the very dust,
And left the good in their hearts to rust,
Shall swoon in despair before his face—
Pleading for mercy and pardon and grace—
Shall boast of the good their gold has done,
And grate of the little course they run,
And each little starved out narrow soul,
Shall lie before Him unchanged and whole,
Naked as lies the child new born—
To crave His pity and feel His scorn.

Then beggars like rats from their haunts shall creep,
Dirty, diseased and dull with sleep,
They shall kiss His garment and feel His touch,
Humble and lowly, and trusting much.
They shall kneel at the feet of the angel hordes
Of servants who guard His word.
The halt and maimed and blind shall come,
And they shall see that He is Truth,
And stand before him awed and dumb,
Feeling again the thrill of youth.

The spawn of hell and filth and crime,
All persons in prison kept,
Shall fall before His face sublime,
And weeping feel that—He has wept.

For a thousand years the King shall reign,
With wrong subdued and right upheld.
Poverty, pitiful and Pain,
By His dear love shall be repelled.

And then shall drunkenness and vice,
And all the hidden deeds of night,
Of rifeled man and wanton maid,
From out the Universe take flight.
Anarchy shall cease its being,
Hatred and unjust Law shall cease.
Before the Powerful Prince of Peace,
All sleek bribed tribune give release,
And Justice live, not blind but seeing.

No more shall warring hordes go forth,
To seek and slay their fellow men,
One great Tribunal shall exist,
To right all wrongs—right again.

Virtuous women, fair and true,
And noble men as true and brave,
Leadful of purpose, staunch and strong,
Shall wield the power the Giver gave,
And honor and truth shall govern the throne—
When the Lord God of Hosts comes back to His own.

No. 647 West Forty-first Place, Los Angeles.

They show traces of the profound impression made on the ancient mind by the many attempts to solve the problem of human wretchedness.

CHRISTIAN THEORY.
The agitation had called into existence many sects with socialistic ideas, and the most, if not all, of them aimed at reforming conditions by the leveling process of asceticism. The Christian religion had this aspect. Its keynote was "the poor ye always have with you," and the efforts of its founders were to bring about the distribution of the wealth already created, rather than to add to existing accumulations. The first Christians were communists, but when their religion began to assume universal proportions it was converted into a modified socialism, under the influence of which the institution of feudalism, with its mutual obligations arose. From the beginning Christianity had accepted the idea of Aristotle that it is criminal to allow money to breed money, and as a result the sentiment against usury was pronounced that it ceased to be an economic force, the only money lenders being the Jews, and the only borrowing being for the purpose of repaying the debt. From the beginning Christianity had accepted the idea of Aristotle that it is criminal to allow money to breed money, and as a result the sentiment against usury was pronounced that it ceased to be an economic force, the only money lenders being the Jews, and the only borrowing being for the purpose of repaying the debt.

INCREASE PRODUCTIVITY.
The lecturer's discourse, which was an extended study of the utility of socialistic schemes, and especially the attempt made in the Middle Ages, was concluded in these words: "While no scheme for the amelioration of the condition of the ill equipped, based upon the leveling idea, can succeed, we know from observation, as well as from the study of history, that man can be lifted from a lower to a higher plane through the instrumentality of that increased productivity which results when men are tempted to put forth their best energies by the hope of reward. It is to this stimulus that we owe the vast accumulations of the past, of which enable the members of modern societies to divide their thoughts and devote the better part of them to the solution of the problem of caring for the inefficient and the unfortunate. Through the development of the faculty of provision there is a constantly increasing number released from sordid care who engage in this work, which has become a noble part of the opportunity to win distinction through the exercise of benevolence no longer exists.

USURY SURVIVES.
That was the condition throughout Europe until the twelfth century, when the Hanseatic League came into existence and the Italian merchants began to be active. They proceeded in their affairs, quietly disregarding the sentiment against usury, which was aroused in a pitch of fury by those who saw in the growing prosperity of the trading element a menace to the contentment of the people, which they thought would be disturbed by the envy of the rich. A council of the church interdicted the taking of interest.

To Tailor-Tied Men!

THE cord that binds you to your tailor is one of sentiment, not "centiment". Do you get full measure for what you pay? Here's the way to weigh it:

Style—How can the small-town tailor, remote from the great centers of fashion, imbue his garments with the advanced style that marks "HIGH-ART" clothes?

Fabrics—How can the small-town tailor, who buys cloth in limited lengths from "middlemen," obtain a range of patterns equal to the immense range of "HIGH-ART" patterns bought in a hundred lots from the mills?

Tailoring—How can the small-town tailor, employing the men and methods of yesterday, turn out garments of to-day level with "HIGH-ART" clothes which are created by artist-specialists in a shop so big, that it could house fifty separate tailor shops?

The best shops in this town and every town sell "HIGH-ART" clothes. That you may be sure to pick out the best from the rest, seek the label, "HIGH-ART."

may be likened to one of those complicated clocks whose performances stimulate the intelligence of the astronomer, and whose melodious chiming in announcing the passing hour charm the ear. Remove the mainspring and the wonderful mechanism becomes an inert mass. The interdependence of its parts is destroyed. They still exist, but they refuse to work because there is nothing to move them. Society cannot afford to destroy its mainspring. It cannot incur the peril of letting the clock of civilization run down. It will not permit the blunder of reverting to primitive methods of marking time. Instead it will strive to still further perfect its parts so that they may work in unison, and strengthen its mainspring so that the clock of civilization will continue to record the progress of mankind until the end.

SONS OF ITALY CLASH.

Little Man Fails to Remember Native Epithets and Falls Back on to English.

The comity of the nations was in danger of destruction, yesterday afternoon, when Americans threatened to interfere with a battle between two sons of sunny Italy, who fought in front of the International Bank building. Fortunately they kept at a distance and the only serious results were a fracture of a pipe step and a scratched knuckle.

The round secretary of the Italian consular agent was returning to his office when a swarthy little fellow stepped up to him. There was a flow of Italian which would put a grand opera singer to shame. Then there was a brief macaroni eater, he broke forth in English.

SPEEDER ON CHAIN GANG.

Chauffeur Violates Ordinance Which Makes Incarceration Sentence Mandatory.

A small colony of expert automobile drivers is being formed on the chain gang by recent victims of the vigilance of the motorcycle officers. George H. Kelly, an automobile driver, is the latest acquisition. He is staying for ten days at the suggestion of Justice Williams of the Police Court. Kelly made the mistake of accelerating at the rate of forty-five miles an hour on West Pico street late Thursday afternoon. He was captured and taken to court. He entered a plea of speeding at a rate greater than thirty miles an hour. This is the charge that acts as a nightmare to speed maniacs. If convicted the defendant must go to jail, an incarceration sentence being mandatory.

FACTS, FEATURES AND FANCIES FOR WOMEN

BY OLIVE GRAY.

Did you ever wonder why the egg is the emblem of Easter? I did, and looked it up.

There are several reasons. One is that the egg symbolizes fruitfulness and the growth principle of nature. But the true origin of the use of the egg, in connection with the Easter festival, dates far back into the earliest religious philosophy.

The early Persians believed that the powers, Ormuzd and Ahriman, the over of light and the power of darkness, contended from the beginning of time, for possession of the earth; and the earth, they symbolized by an egg.

This idea, in one form or another, prevailed in many of the early religions, the spring being the sacred time naturally, as the season when in contest between the powers waned and waned, since at that time the light and warmth of summer seemed impending for mastery over the cold and darkness of winter.

Myth and tradition is very like a snowball, gathering up all which lies in its way, and finally depositing the various ingredients in one spot.

It was with the early legends of the life between darkness and daylight; the story of the resurrection, around the Christian vernal festival.

Just as, when we find a friend, we join together for his honor all the resources of our mind and talent, searching our recollection for interesting facts and incidents, so tradition brought and laid upon the altar of the new religion, all the romance of poetry before applied to scattered allusions.

It is beautiful to me, to think that celebrating this great festival, we commemorate not only the religious sacrament, but also the religious idea. That we behold, not only the sacred rites within the temple, but the consummation of nature's transmissions. That we "look up" through the stars, unto nature's God.

In denoting our best attire, singing or best songs, you even in setting forth the best of viands, we are in conformity with the season, which itself is doing the same. It is the time of song, rejoicing and "winning in flowerly raiment; and the time of the spring flowers become the season's special emblem. Prominent for all, however, is the egg.

In all our joyous giving, it finds a place, stimulated in the fabrication of it, or satin, wax or basketry. It is the form in which the egg is given, and of the Easter menu, it is an important part.

New Ways of Using Eggs.

The children's egg hunt, before breakfast, is a customary opening of a day's festivities, in many families. Eggs are hidden in queer, out-of-the-way places, or concealed in gifts, or in less beauty or grotesqueness, leading to fancy; and there is fun in the hunt for all.

The breakfast table may be the scene for many of the gifts, which peep under napkins, or are hidden under dishes.

The menu should, so far as possible, be composed of eggs, cooked in various ways, supplemented by savory meats like nothing so well as the hot-baked egg for a first dish. If the eggs are placed in boiling water, in a covered pan, and at once removed to the fire, the delicate flavor is almost much better than if the eggs are allowed to boil. From eight to ten minutes in hot water will cook to perfection, and when the shell is broken, a egg turns out clear and clean. A dash of horse radish is relished by many, with a soft boiled egg.

Eggs poached in milk are out of the ordinary. They are prepared as usual, the water is replaced by milk, and gives a different flavor than when poached in the old way.

"Hot cross buns" are, in many communities, an institution for the Easter breakfast table.

The omelette is very palatable. Use your favorite recipe for plain omelette, and when it is set, pour in stewed asparagus, which has been cut in small bits, and serve to taste. Fold the omelette in two, and serve.

A lady on Harvard boulevard has aimed a reputation for lemon pies, eggs are vastly different from the too soggy production. These are a desert for Easter dinner.

The ingredients are simple enough: Four eggs, one lemon, a dash of sugar, and the yolks of all the eggs, beat with a cup of sugar, add the juice and grated rind of the lemon. Thoroughly beat this mixture, add a double boiler until it thickens. Beat up the whites of two eggs, and beat them into the custard at the remaining whites of the two, and add the remainder of the sugar. Bake in a shallow dish, using your favorite recipe—probably French puff paste—and into pour the custard, put on the top, and brown delicately in the oven.

The egg salad is delicious for a cheese dish or for the late supper. Red-hot eggs, peeled and chop a. While still warm, add butter the size of an egg, a dash of onion juice, finely chopped onion, a dust of salt, salt and pepper. Serve on lettuce, with mayonnaise.

The recipe for Greek soup was given me by a lady who learned to make delicacy during a sojourn in Greece. From left-over chicken or turkey, make a strong stock. Take ten eggs, beat yolks and whites separately. To the thoroughly beaten yolks slowly one quart of the hot stock, stirring constantly. Take one cup of rice, which has been put through colander, and add it to the stock, stirring the yolks. Beat thoroughly and carefully add the juice of one lemon.

Season with salt and a dash of cayenne. Heat the mixture to boiling, stirring constantly. Add the whites of eggs, beaten to a stiff froth. Serve in croquettes, rolled in melted French cheese.

A recipe in rhyme, sent to me by a friend, seems fitting to close the list of Easter dainties. This is for Venetian eggs: "Venetian eggs on chafing, can be prepared whenever you A little onion, chop up fine, and mix in butter for a time; tomatoes red or stewed—a cup—then season and beat both up. Then drop in spoon for each guest; let the whites, stir in the rest; and served on ferns or buttered toast, you'll have a h of which to be proud."

A Humorous Side.

Whatever the occasion or occasion, one of the humorous depicted here and one of the waxy candy men made an Easter "bird" by sticking cardboard legs and head upon a bean-shaped body of fluffy candy.

In a window of a store where men's nightgowns are sold I noticed some of the queerest eggs which I had ever seen. They were about as large as a ball, and rainbow-hued. I was walking fast as they struck my vision, and I was nearly past before I realized that here was something which I must know about. So I turned back, puzzled for a moment over the mystery, then I saw the man. It seemed that the queer eggs are pocket handkerchiefs, or neckerchiefs, the latest fad in London. They look like the cloth which one squeezes around the egg which are dyed for Easter; and the borders are plain, as though the many-hued dye had not reached there. The window trimmer had cleverly placed them over a wad of cotton to simulate giant Easter eggs.

The Easter Costume.

If you have not yet achieved the Easter suit, there is still time to procure one, for the spring is being better than ever, this season. The color range is wide and the styles are correct; and moreover the best houses have really good tailors to do the fittings.

It is also not difficult to match the suit in a ready-to-wear hat, and that in a moderate price. The millinery is an attractive this season that the individual taste need not be offended in selecting.

The accessories of the toilet are multiple and tempting. There is the scarf, in such enticing color, shade and pattern as to almost bewilder. This scarf has become as necessary a part of the toilet as the fan in Spain, and it may be used with quite as much coquetry.

Gloves are principally of the heavier kind, many being enriched not only by heavily stitched bands, but by embroidery upon the wrist.

The chapeau has reappeared in its modern, belted form, and with vinaigrette, puff box, mirror, etc., upon chains of gilt.

If you wish, you may have your handbag of silver chain, sparkling with pendants set with your birthstone.

A pretty little morning jacket is made from bands of lace and flowered ribbon.

Dotted veils are popular with Easter millinery.

Parasols of black lace, over white, are carried for dressy occasions.

Enamel, jewels and brilliant color effects are seen upon the new coat buttons.

Veils of colored lace, to match the costume, will be worn during the spring.

The full gathered-over skirts, in a modern version of the "pull back," are worn in Paris.

Easter bonnets are trembling in their hand-bags for fear that it will rain.

Glimes of California Sunshine Are Sent Out by Chamber of Commerce on Request.

Glimes of sunshine from Los Angeles and Southern California are becoming more and more appreciated. "Back East" especially at the present time when the March winds are blowing bitterly cold all over that section of the country. Stereoscopic lectures and Southern California views the most popular.

Four cities applied yesterday to Secretary Wiggins of the Chamber of Commerce for stereoscopic views of this city and vicinity to be used in showing the benighted easterners what they are missing. The applications came from Elkhart, Ind., Chicago, Portland, Me., and Washington, D. C. This makes fifteen lecture tours that have been supplied with views of this kind through the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

CHICAGO SEEKS EXHIBIT.

Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce Will Show Easterners Something of Irrigated Lands.

Advertising notices of the proposed land and irrigation exhibition to be held in Chicago next November were received at the Chamber of Commerce yesterday by Secretary Wiggins. They were accompanied by the statement that the exhibition this year is to be largely increased in size and scope, and will take in the whole United States.

Efforts are being made to secure exhibits from all irrigated sections of the country. The railroad companies are taking a great interest in the event, and a representative of the Santa Fe company called on Secretary Wiggins yesterday to ascertain what arrangements can be made to have Los Angeles properly represented when the fair opens.

Last year the Los Angeles exhibit of this character was at the Seattle exposition and it was impossible to exhibit at Chicago. The Chicago promoters will this year provide accommodations for all exhibitors who wish to have stereoscopic lectures in connection with their exhibits.

NEGRITO GETS BAD AGAIN.

Makes Failure at Cycling, Tries Shooting at Random and Lands in City Jail.

E. M. Stiles, a negro who has formed an acquaintance with the police on a previous occasion, got himself into trouble again last night and was locked up in the City Jail on a charge of discharging firearms in the city limits.

Stiles, it is said, was drunk when he drove into East Tenth street on a wagon. Opposite No. 229 he thought to change his mode of riding, and tried a bicycle that was standing against the curb. He made a failure of cycling, and, taking a revolver from under the cushion of his wagon seat, he fired a shot at random, then stood on the sidewalk, brandishing the weapon, and the presence of a number of children on the street.

Special Officer George Churchill, passing by, struck the negro a smart rap across the wrist with his handcuffs and Stiles dropped his revolver. There was a fierce struggle in which four or five men from the neighborhood helped Churchill, and the negro was finally overcome and sent to the Police Station.

Vigor Restored

By using the ELECTRO-THERMO-DILATOR, Nature's FORCE, the body is restored to its normal strength and health. The skin is kept healthy, and free from eruptions or diseases, by pure blood. But when impurities and humors infect the circulation its nourishing properties are diminished and instead of supplying the skin with healthful properties it constantly irritates and diseases the delicate fibers, pores and glands with sharp stasis matter. Then the skin tissues inflame, swell and ulcerate and some form of skin disease appears on the surface. Applying soothing lotions, ointments, etc., to the outer eruptions does not purify the blood and therefore the skin trouble can not be cured in this manner. A. S. R. cures all skin diseases by neutralizing the acids and removing the humors from the blood. It cools the acid-heated circulation, builds it up to its normal strength and thickness, multiplies its rich, nutritious corpuscles, and adds to its purity in every way. ## CURES D.D.S. SKIN DISEASES

Lying just beneath the outer covering or tissue-skin, is a sensitive membranous flesh in which are imbedded thousands of small blood vessels. It is through these tiny veins and arteries that nutriment is supplied from the blood to the different parts, glands and lymphatics. Thus the skin is kept healthy, and free from eruptions or diseases, by pure blood. But when impurities and humors infect the circulation its nourishing properties are diminished and instead of supplying the skin with healthful properties it constantly irritates and diseases the delicate fibers, pores and glands with sharp stasis matter. WASHINGTON, March 14.—Congress appropriated $25,000 to pay the expenses of reorganizing the Treasury Department and modernizing its methods. # THE STORY OF YOUR OWN FIRST NAME.

ITS ORIGIN AND THE FAMOUS FOLK WHO HAVE BORNE IT.

CHRISTOPHER CHRISTINE.

Saint Christopher, so daring and bold that he would follow only the greatest prince in the world—One Christopher whose boldness brought about the discovery of this country, and another whose boldness led to the first settlement here—Two bold Christians who were Kings of Denmark—Some Christophers, Christians and Christines who were not noted for their boldness.

BY FRANCES MARSHALL.

Christian slave, who succeeded in converting her royal masters, the King and Queen of Iberia, to the faith she believed in.

There have been three queens of the name; and two of them gained not only fame but notoriety, because of their bold spirits. The third, the Dowager Queen of Spain, Maria Christina, has at least shown herself brave in the accomplishment of the difficult task which was her lot for so many years as Queen Regent.

Christina of Sweden lived in the seventeenth century; and was the only child of Gustavus Adolphus. So great was the King's disappointment that his child was not a son that he dressed her as a boy, and had her educated as a prince of the day was educated—well grounded in sciences, languages, ancient and modern, and statecraft. Christina used to accompany her father on long journeys and hunts; and until his death, which occurred when she was only a years old, she was his constant companion.

As a queen—or rather as a king, for she determined never to marry, and according to an old chronicle, "solemnly took to herself the title of king"—Christina was a success. She governed with firmness and wisdom, and brought the Thirty Years' War to a close in a way most advantageous to Sweden. But later on Christina's bold spirit and love of adventure and excitement made her a seven days' wonder in Europe; and her subjects disapproved her.

Maria Christina of Spain, who lived some 200 years later, was the great-grandmother of the present King, Alfonso XIII. Her boldness cost her a throne; for in 1680 she lost her crown for daring to marry a man far below her in rank. Later her support of tyranny and arbitrary methods brought about her exile from Spain.

Nine kings, all rulers of Denmark, some of Norway and Sweden as well, have had a chance to make the name "Christian" famous for their bravery and boldness; and at least two of them have succeeded.

Christian II, who lived from 1481 to 1559, was not only a brave and bold man, but for his cruelty as well. He recovered Sweden to the Danish crown, but was finally dethroned because of his constant opposition to the nobles and his friendliness for the peasants of his realm.

Christian IV, who lived just about a hundred years later, although not especially brave—or at least fortunate—in arms, was far ahead of his times in the boldness of his legislative and financial reforms. The present capital of Norway, Christiania, bears witness to the fact that he founded a great city.

Some of the big Christians, Christophers and Christines have not been especially daring, but have nevertheless gained fame. One of these was Christian of Troyes, who lived in the last part of the twelfth century. He is known as the founder of the medieval romance so, although he was not bold himself, he told of the brave deeds and daring of bold knights and fair ladies, of kings and queens. He was the first of the French troubadours, and one of the first writers to give form and substance to the legends of King Arthur and his Round Table.

Another man of the name not famed especially for his personal daring was Christopher Marlowe, one of the great playwrights of Shakespeare's time. In his work at least boldness was shown by Christopher Marlowe, the architect, who designed St. Paul's Cathedral in London over 300 years ago. The late King Christian of Denmark can hardly be called bold, but there probably never was a king more loved; the present Crown Prince, who bears his grandfather's name, has as yet hardly had a chance to prove himself.

Christine de Pisan, whose father was a troubadour to the Emperor Charles V, was a writer and poet in the fifteenth century. Christine, Abbess of Remsay, was the Hungarian who, in very early times, named her name into England. Well-known Christians of later times are Christina Rossetti, who, like her brother, Dante Gabriel Rossetti, gained a good name as a poet; Christine Nilsson, the Norwegian singer, who began her career singing songs to her own violin accompaniment at country fairs; and Christine Terhune Herriek, the Greek writer.

Chris, the Greek verb meaning to rub or annoy, gave rise to the term Chrisos, the unadorned, employed as the Greek translation of the Hebrew word Messiah; Christian, therefore, means a follower of the Messiah, and Christopher means Christ-bearer.

CHARGES CHILD STEALING.

Young Mother of Infant in Quadruplet Fraud Charged with Arrest of a Participant.

As a result of her participation in the Wilson quadruplet fraud, which was recently exposed, Mrs. Catherine E. Smith was yesterday arrested on a charge of child-stealing, which was preferred by Sadie Engelman, 18 years old.

Miss Engelman was an inmate of the institution conducted by Mrs. Smith, when a child, without a rightful claim to a name, was born to her, according to information given the District Attorney. She became terribly ill. When she was recovering, she inquired for the child, but it was not produced. She declares that the baby was one of the four which Mrs. Wilson sought to pass off as her offspring. In legal

Helpful Hints on Hair Health

Scalp and Hair Trouble Generally Caused by Carelessness

Dandruff is a contagious disease caused by a microbe which also produces baldness. Never use a comb or brush belonging to some one else. No matter how cleanly the owner may be, these articles may be infected with microbes, which will infect your scalp. It is far easier to catch hair microbes than it is to get rid of them, and a single stroke of an infected comb or brush will lead to baldness. Never try anybody else's hat. Many a husband is a resting place for microbes.

If you happen to be troubled with dandruff, itching scalp, falling hair or baldness, we have a remedy which we believe will completely relieve these troubles. We are sure of this that we offer it to you with the understanding that it will cost you nothing for the trial. It does not produce the results claimed. This remedy is called "REXALL" Hair Tonic. We honestly believe it to be the most scientific remedy for scalp and hair troubles, and we know of nothing at that equals it for effectiveness. Because of the results it has produced in thousands of cases.

REXALL "93" Hair Tonic is used to banish dandruff, restore natural color when its loss has been brought about by disease, and make the hair naturally silky, soft and glossy. It does this because it stimulates the hair follicles, destroys the germ matter, and brings about a free, healthy circulation of blood, which nourishes the hair roots, causing them to tighten and grow new hair. We want everybody who has any trouble with hair or scalp to know that REXALL "93" Hair Tonic is the best hair tonic and restorative in existence and no one should scoff at or doubt this statement until they have our claims to a fair test, with the understanding that they pay nothing for the remedy if it does not give full and complete satisfaction in every particular. The size, 50 cents and $1.00. Remember you can obtain REXALL Remedies at Los Angeles only at our stores—The Rexall Stores.
